

ANNEX B

ECONOMIC INTELLIGENCE ANNEX
TO THE
GLOBAL WAR PLAN FOR THE DD/I AREA

(Prepared by CRR)

I. General

- A. Purpose. To define the CRR mission of production and coordination of economic intelligence in the event of global war.
- B. Assumptions. The assumptions of this Annex are the basic assumptions set forth in the Global War Plan for the DD/I Area with the following additions:
 1. That CRR, in wartime, will continue to carry out CIA's responsibilities for economic intelligence production and coordination as set forth in DCID 15/1 and IAC-D-21/1 (Rev.), 26 May 1951.
 2. That CRR's economic intelligence production effort will be directed primarily toward enemy areas, i.e. the Sino-Soviet Bloc and territory overrun by the enemy and subject to enemy domination.

II. Wartime Mission

The AD/RR in the field of economic intelligence will:

- A. Produce economic intelligence relating to enemy areas required:
 1. By (a) the DD/I (and through him by the NSC) and the DCI, (b) the IAC and supporting staffs and committees, (c) the Current Intelligence Center, and (d) appropriate components of the Office of the Secretary of Defense in support of national policy determination and strategic war planning.

[Involving probable emphasis on the assessment of the enemy's changing economic capabilities for offensive and defensive action, the extent and rate of economic recuperation within enemy dominated territory, the status of the enemy's civilian economy, and the enemy's over-all economic capability to sustain its war operation.]

2. By (a) the DD/I and the DCI, (b) the Current Intelligence Center, (c) the appropriate components of the military intelligence services, and (d) DD/P's field operations for tactical intelligence and target analysis.

[Involving probable emphasis on current economic assessment of the progressive destruction or build-up of the enemy's strength, the extent of the enemy's industrial structure, and the determination of changing vulnerabilities within its economic structure.]

B. Coordinate the economic intelligence effort within the Government agencies, with particular attention to enemy-held territory:

1. To minimize conflict among agencies in the conduct of their respective economic intelligence efforts.
2. To maximize effective use of capabilities, production, and facilities of participants in meeting wartime requirements for economic intelligence.

[Involving probable emphasis on rapid and effective liaison and coordination among participating agencies, immediate allocation of production responsibilities in response to priority tasks assigned to the Economic Intelligence Committee and in accordance with available resources, and guidance to economic research activities relating to the war effort and of mutual interest to participating agencies.]

C. Conduct field exploitation [REDACTED] with appropriate coordination in the field, and maintain such field centers [REDACTED] as may be required. (See TAB A)

25X1B4d

[Involving a probable emphasis on current information relating to enemy production of new types of equipment, key assembly points and active component producers to assist in evaluating enemy capabilities and as a guide to targeting.]

25X1B4d

- D. Maintain a centralized inter-agency center at headquarters or other designated point in the Z.I. (See TAB A)

[Involving probable emphasis on finished analyses and estimates of the enemy's production of new types of equipment and information on the changing pattern of the production of military equipment as required by CIA and the military services.]

2. Produce and coordinate the production of intelligence in support of U.S. and allied economic warfare activities as required by (a) action agencies responsible for economic warfare planning and operations, (b) the IAC in support of estimates incorporating questions relating to economic warfare, and (c) an anticipated Economic Warfare Advisory Committee. (See TAB B)

[Involving primary emphasis on appraisal of the enemy's needs for commodities for which neutral countries seek questionable import quotas, navicerts or other permits; determination of production of intelligence on operations and

and support of military measures against economic targets in non-enemy areas.]

- F. Provide substantive liaison and integrated personnel to counterpart activities of appropriate foreign intelligence agencies.
- G. Provide substantive guidance to the Armed Services Personnel Interrogation Center (ASPIC) and such other collection guidance as circumstances indicate, including detail of specialists as required for POW interrogation activities.
- H. Undertake such other functions and services of common concern as may be assigned by the DD/I.

III. Phases of Accomplishment

A. Pre M-Day

1. The production and coordination of economic intelligence and associated functions will be continued without change under present directives.

TOP SECRET

2. When appropriate, and with the approval of the ED/I, the plans set forth in this Annex for the production of economic intelligence will be coordinated with the IAC and civilian agencies and with NSA.

a. Agreements will be obtained with participating agencies in respect to the functioning and priority responsibilities of the EIC in wartime.

b. Necessary agreements, within the recognized command relationships between CIA and the Armed Forces in theaters of war, will be obtained to permit rapid establishment and operation of [REDACTED] in theaters of command.

c. Detailed plans will be developed and agreements reached to facilitate the establishment of [REDACTED] with full participation of the military services in maintaining this center as a facility of common concern.

3. Personnel and equipment requirements in support of the War Plan provided by this Annex will be prepared and revised as necessary. (See ORR Mobilization Plan)

4. Training

a. Will undertake trial evacuations to emergency location to test (1) adequacy and balance of selected staff, (2) procedures, (3) effectiveness of support to other CIA and IAC emergency elements during joint trials, and (4) adequacy of facilities and basic source materials for conducting emergency functions.

b. Will conduct training in photo-interpretation and in exploitation of special materials for analysts.

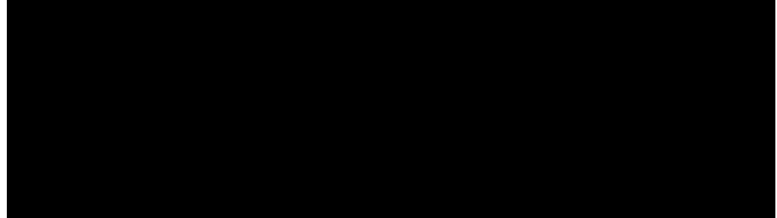

c. Will increase readiness of selected personnel carried in reserve status by short term employment as consultants or by other means.

B. Initial Wartime Operation

1. If evacuation is necessary, deploy to relocation center, carrying out the planned initial and post-D-Day wartime economic intelligence mission within the limitations imposed by the emergency facilities and organization.

2. Provide economic intelligence in the form of evaluations and quick estimates of the current situation as required.
3. Verify arrangements and agreements with other agencies for war-time operations and initiate action as required.

25X1B4d

4. Provide such other services of common concern as the DD/I may direct.
5. Implement the ORR Mobilization Plan by taking the necessary initial steps for converting of the military reservists, the phased calling in of CIA reserve personnel, obtaining the assignment of military personnel from the Services, and augmenting the civilian strength in terms of mobilization requirements. (See ORR Mobilization Plan)
6. Initiate training of augmented staffs for effective conduct of their duties.

C. Post D-Day Build-Up

1. Continue to provide economic intelligence evaluations and estimates on current situations.
2. Implement as rapidly as possible all aspects of the War Plan for Economic Intelligence.

[Involving probable emphasis initially on quick ad hoc research and the preparation of short studies in support of essentially military requirements and 4th Force operations, and short contributions to NIK's and to the NKC, subsequently followed by more comprehensive studies as described under II.A.1. of this Annex; probable development of the NKC as a centrally located group acting as a reviewing and coordinating body not itself engaged in production; establishment subsequent direct support to the participating agencies; development of close intelligence support and effective liaison with agencies involved in economic warfare activities; and build-up as called for in the integration of personnel into counterpart intelligence organizations of foreign agencies.]

3. Continue build-up toward planned mobilization strength and re-evaluate personnel needs as functions and requirements become fully clarified.
4. Continue necessary training on an expanded scale.
